Bulletin

 Park Avenue Synagogue קהל אגודת ישראל

סיון-תמוז-אב July-August 2019

In the course of this year, every issue of the Bulletin has included an article “From the Educational Team,” focusing in turn on Congregational Education, the PASECC, Teen Programming and Engagement, Adult Learning, and promoting visual literacy through community art projects. In this issue, the final installment in this year’s reports from the Ed Team focuses on the Congregational School and the relationship of religious school education and home education. Although not everyone in our community is engaged with the Congregational School on a day-to-day basis, the education of our children is important to everyone concerned about the future of Judaism. Yasher koach to our entire Educational Team on another successful year of teaching and learning for all ages!

Home & Synagogue: Intersection of Jewish Literacy

As a parent of two young children, I see that my children copy everything I do. Little phrases I say, I hear repeated back. They like to eat snacks instead of meals. They love eating challah and singing Dayenu.

The home is the first source of Jewish learning; parents are their children’s primary Jewish educators. But we can’t do everything for our kids. We hire caregivers to be with them when we are at work, have groceries delivered to provide nourishment, and send them to school for formal education to build on what we teach them at home, ba-bayit.

The word bayit, Hebrew for house or home, is the basis for naming many significant places in Jewish life. Beit Knesset is a house of gathering, thus a synagogue. Beit Midrash is house of study. And Beit HaSefer, the “house of the book,” is a school. Learning within a community is a core Jewish value – coming together to learn and pray is a must.

Among American Jewry, the second major source of Jewish education is Congregational School, a Jewish educational system which supplements what children learn in “regular” school and what they learn at home. At the PASCs, we take this responsibility seriously, providing a robust curriculum that includes Judaics, Hebrew and tefillah. Teaching takes place in a classroom setting, where children learn with peers, make friends, and benefit from all the resources of the synagogue, like tefillah led by our Principal Music Educator and cantors. At the same time, we know that everything that happens within the walls of our Lifelong Learning Center needs to be reinforced at home in order to take root and have a lasting impact.

The 20th-century education pioneer Joseph Schwab, most famous for his work on curriculum development, writes about four “commonplaces” that are present in every educational enterprise: subject matter, learners, teachers, and milieu. The nexus of success is where all four commonplaces intersect. In our context, each learner’s milieu is both the individual family and the community-at-large. Our children succeed in their Jewish education when learning at home is reinforced by learning in the classroom, and vice versa.

The Congregational School is here to support and reinforce your efforts to make your home your child’s first place of Jewish learning. Hang a mezuzah, celebrate Shabbat and holidays, discuss the weekly Torah portion over a traditional Shabbat dinner or over a pizza, host family and friends for a meal. (Hakhnasat orhim/hospitality is a Jewish value whether it’s for Shabbat or the Super Bowl.) Use your imagination to make your home part of the nexus of success for your children’s Jewish education and identity.

According to tradition, on the 17th of Tammuz in 586 BCE, the walls of the First Temple were breached by the Babylonians, and on the same date in 69 CE, the walls of the Second Temple were breached by the Romans. Like the three other minor fasts of the year, the fast of the 17th of Tammuz is from dawn until dark, not from sunset to sunset. When the 17th of Tammuz falls on Shabbat, like this year, the fast is observed on the 18th.

High Holiday Basics 2019/5780

We look forward to the High Holidays, beginning with Erev Rosh Hashanah on Sunday, September 29. We are thrilled that we will be back in our 87th Street building, both in the Sanctuary and in the revitalized Lower Level. We will also conduct services again at our Fifth Avenue location, as well as family services, teen services, young family services, and services and programming for children in grades K-7. Locations for all these services will be announced in September, and we anticipate warm and meaningful High Holiday Services in all locations.

High Holiday tickets will be mailed in September to members in good standing. If you have not yet made arrangements to pay your synagogue dues, we encourage you to do that now. No tickets will be required for Erev Rosh Hashanah and Yizkor services. To ensure that every PAS member has seats for the High Holidays, we ask that you purchase guest tickets only for your immediate family members, including children above the age of 23. Each household will be limited to two guest tickets. All guest tickets are for admission at the Fifth Avenue service only.

Watch for more detailed information about the High Holidays at pasyn.org/highholidays5780, in email, and in the September/October Bulletin.

Please contact the synagogue office to discuss any accommodations you or a family member may need to make your visit and involvement in PAS more comfortable.

Context core program.

• Bereshit (Genesis) II – The Story of the First Jewish Family | The Rachel Wasserman Scholars Curriculum | Wed | Begins Oct 16 | 7:00–8:15 pm | 10 sessions | Rabbi Savenor
Follow the development of the first Jewish family, from “The Birth of Two Nations” and “Stolen Blessings” to “Reunion in Egypt” and “Blessing the Grandchildren.” These stories of sibling rivalry, wrestling with an angel, palace seduction, rape, and reconciliation provide dramatic and iconic images that reverberate across the millennia.

• Shir HaShirim I | Wed | Begins Oct 16 | 7:00–8:30 pm | 10 sessions | Rabbi Shmuel Afek
Study Shir HaShirim (Song of Songs) with the four levels of interpretation traditionally applied in Jewish text study: P’shat (the plain sense of the text), Drash (discovering theological, historical, and ethical issues in the text), Remez (exploring philosophical interests and concerns of the text) and Sod (mystical; searching for esoteric elements and events in the divine realm hidden in the text). Using Professor Michael Fishbane’s landmark JPS translation and commentary on Shir HaShirim, participants will learn to appreciate the different aspects of traditional interpretation of Jewish texts in addition to gaining a deep understanding of this unusual biblical book.

• Jewish Medical Ethics: A 21st-Century Discussion | The Rachel Wasserman Scholars Curriculum | Thu | Begins Oct 17 | 9:15–10:30 am | 10 sessions | Rabbi Cosgrove
Within the field of ethics, one of the most challenging frontiers is medical ethics. While contemporary medical knowledge preserves life, modern advances have raised moral and ethical dilemmas related to the sanctity and dignity of life — issues whose scope was unimaginable a generation ago. Reading in Jewish Medical Ethics by Rabbi Elliot Dorff, PhD, we will explore Jewish approaches to a number of 21st-century ethical issues, including human cloning, surrogate motherhood, genetic identity, assisted suicide, and genetic manipulation.
This class is currently at capacity. Please email Rebecca Cushman at rcushman@pasyn.org if you are interested in adding your name to the waitlist.

• History of Anti-Semitism and the Holocaust | Thu | Begins Oct 17 | 9:15–10:30 am | 10 sessions | Dr. David Kaufman
As Jews, we are always aware of anti-Semitism. In recent months, this awareness has become a daily concern. Historical perspective is indispensable to understand today’s realities and our reactions to them. To better comprehend both our history and ourselves, this class will address issues such as the origin of anti-Semitism, root causes of the Holocaust, why anti-Semitism is intensifying once again, and how Holocaust memory influences our understanding of and response to anti-Semitism today.
This class is currently at capacity. Please email Rebecca Cushman at rcushman@pasyn.org if you are interested in adding your name to the waitlist.

Summer Update

After more than 16 months in our temporary location at 4 East 90th Street, we are on schedule to move staff offices and programs back to 87th Street this fall for the start of the Early Childhood Center year, High Holidays, and fall programming! Although we expect that our move from PAS@90th to PAS@87th will take place in late summer, the transition will continue well into 5780, as we acclimate to the beautiful spaces at PAS@87th, assign new locations to minyan and other programs, and establish relationships with new caterers. Throughout all the changes over the period of transition, it has been abundantly clear that the space is secondary to the wonderful and committed PAS community members who have demonstrated grace and flexibility over the last year and a half. Thank you! We are almost there!

While our contractors are now putting final touches on PAS@87th, we want to share photos from an earlier stage of the construction this past May. Over a year earlier, on May 3, 2018, the annual PAS Gala was the final event held in the Lower Level of 87th Street before construction. At the Gala, members of the community signed poster boards with congratulations for the past and wishes for the future. The photos show how the signature boards were enclosed in the walls of the renovated building, permanently embedding them in PAS history.

We remain committed to keeping the PAS community informed about the transition. Watch for more information about the location of programs and services in the September/October bulletin, emails, and on pasyn.org/transition.
